Vide advertisement No.6/2006 dated 20.7.2006, applications were invited for the post of Lecturer in Punjabi. As many as 8 posts were advertised under general category, one in SC(A), one in SC (B), one in BC and one Esm. In terms of another notification dated 12.6.2006, reservation has been made to the extent of 33 % for women candidates. The petitioner claiming to be eligible, applied for the post of Lecturer in Punjabi, claiming to be a S.C. Candidate. After adopting short listing criteria, the candidates including petitioner were called for interview. Respondent Nos.4 and 5 have been selected under the Scheduled Caste category against the two vacancies reserved for these categories. The grievance of the petitioner is that as against 33 % posts reserved for the women, only three candidates have been selected under general category and the petitioner, the alone S.C. female candidate has been denied appointment in contravention of the government policy.

Separate replies have been filed by respondent Nos.1,2 and 3 respectively. According to the reply filed by the State against 33 % female category posts there are only two posts meant for Scheduled Caste category, no vacancy could be given to the female candidate against the 33 % of the quota. Had there been three posts, one vacancy could have gone to the female candidate. It is further mentioned that as and when the posts of Punjabi Lecturer will be available in the ratio o 2:1 that would be advertised and the female candidates will be considered under the reserved categories.

The claim of the petitioner is that out of the total 12 vacancies, four vacancies could have gone to the female, whereas only 3 female candidates have been selected/appointed in the general category. It is accordingly contended that if one more vacancy is given to female candidate, the petitioner being sole scheduled caste candidate can be considered against this vacancy. From the break up of the vacancy position it appears that as against 8 posts in the general category, three posts have been given to females, which comes to more than 33 %. There are two posts reserved for scheduled caste and thus no female category candidate could be adjusted. So far as BC and Esm. candidates are concerned, there is only one vacancy in each category and thus no vacancy could be given to the female candidate against 33 % female quota for S.Cs. In view of above position there is no violation of any rule of law.

No merit in this petition. Dismissed. Sd/- (PERMOD KHEI)
